

Privacy Policy for All iOS Apps

by James Hollender

The only data collected by these apps is through user selections from data provided in the base app in conjunction with any input supplied by the user. The user's data is stored in an SQLite database within the app and is never transmitted outside the app. The only exception to this is the capability for the user to email a copy of the collection database for backup purposes.

These apps are designed so an Internet connection is not required.
